IKE OPPOSES CIVIL RIGHTS CHANGE

Judge Aspirants Seek Democratic Committee Nod

Greensburg will have the air of a national political convention Saturday when the 126-member executive committee of the Westmoreland County Democratic Party meets to select the party's choice for a third common pleas judgeship nomination.

All six candidates for the vacancy created by the death of Judge George H. McWherter are conducting active campaigns and all believe they will win, according to a survey made by The Daily Independent.

Party leaders are remaining mum on their favorites, preferring to leave the final selection up to the executive committee. It was learned, however, that pressure is being put on committeemen by some leaders to vote for "their man."

The committee will make its selection at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Crystal Room of the Penn Albert Hotel in Greensburg.

Three Rumored

Actively seeking the nomination are David H. Weiss, of Monessen; Paul W. Mahady, of Latrobe; John K. Best, of Jeannette; Joseph M. Loughran, of Greensburg; James L. McWherter, of Derry, and Vincent E. Williams, of Greensburg.

A well informed source told The Independent that the strategy conferences being held all over the Democratic-controlled courthouse in Greensburg have boiled the nomination down to three candidates: Weiss, Best and Mahady.

Other reliable sources said Best, Mahady and McWherter, a nephew of the deceased judge, are the "favorite" candidates among top party leaders.

However, there are some Democrats who think the organization would be smart to add Loughran to the ticket as the third man, pointing to his large vote as an independent Democrat for judge in the May 21 primary. Loughran, a former assistant district attorney, broke with the powerful Democratic machine when it refused to slate him for the primary.

But Loughran, it is believed, has passed the point of no return in his criticism of his former machine associates, particularly Chief County Detective Arthur B. "Buddy" Turner, reputed boss of the machine. Loughran has accused Turner's group of being "racket-ridden."

Chances Good

Despite his bolting the machine, Loughran today told The Independent that he has a good chance of getting the nomination, stating:

"I feel that since the voters of Westmoreland County placed me third in the primary election, the executive committee would be justified to select me . . .

"I plan to contact every member of the committee and point out that I was only 1,900 votes behind L. Alexander Sculco (present D.A. who won the Democratic nomination along with Judge Edward G. Bauer in May. My

West Agrees On 'Open Skies' Inspection Plan

LONDON (UP) — The Western powers today agreed on a joint "open skies" aerial inspection plan to be presented to the Soviet Union as part of a first step toward disarmament.

The agreement was reached at a 90-minute session this morning among Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, France's Jules Moch, Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Canada's David Johnston.

Dulles immediately invited Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin to join the other Western delegation chiefs at an informal working lunch at Winfield House, official residence of the U.S. ambassador.

In Paris, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau announced he would fly to London Thursday and join Dulles and Lloyd for the first Big Three foreign ministers' conference since the Suez crisis split the Atlantic alliance last fall.

Informed sources said Middle East affairs as well as disarmament would be discussed.

The lunch meeting today was the first contact Dulles had with the Russians since he arrived here Monday at President Eisenhower's direction to try to inject new life into the lagging disarmament negotiations.

Children Can't Say Grace In Public Schools

EDGEWATER PARK, N.J. (UP)-A religious controversy stirred here today over State Attorney General Grover C. Richman, Jr.'s ruling barring children from reciting Grace before lunchtime in public schools.

Mrs. Mildred Magowan, of Riverton, principal of two grade schools here, termed the ruling "ridiculous."

"Our legislators have incorporated 'One nation under God' in the salute to the flag," she retorted, "but apparently we cannot mention God in a prayer."

Richman's ruling, on a request from the Edgewater Park Board of education, said Tuesday that "Grace, as a religious exercise, is barred from the public schools in this state."

Richman proposed that "an interval of silence at lunchtime without any understanding that the children are to repeat Grace to themselves, if they choose, meets no statutory prohibition."

Storm Lashes District; Power Lines Downed

A brief but vicious rain and hail storm lashed the district last night, disrupting electrical service in some sections.

Almost an inch of rain fell during the 15 minute downpour.

A spokesman for the West Penn Power Co. said that a primary fuse blew out in Rostraver Twp., causing a half hour interruption in service along Route 51.

In Fellsburg and Webster Hollow, power was off for about two hours as West Penn workers repaired a line which was snapped in two by a falling tree.

In Donora and parts of Webster, lighting caused a momentary power failure. Early this morning, the power was turned off for about 15 minutes in that area to permit necessary repairs.

The West Penn reported no damage in Monessen, Belle Vernon or Charleroi.

"We considered our damage light in view of the storm intensity," a West Penn spokesman said.

Bell Telephone officials reported no damage.

Hail and lighting accompanied the storm, which hit around 9:25 p.m.

The Zinc Works weather station reported a rainfall of .93 inches in a half hour period, with practically all of it coming during the first 15 minutes of the storm.

Winds up to 70 miles per hour were also recorded during a five-minute period.

The temperature dropped during the storm from 80 to 63 degrees. It was back up to 83 degrees at noon today.

The heavy hail apparently caused no damage. However the rainfall over ran storm sewers and littered many district roads.

The storm caught some Monessen picnickers en route home from the annual outing at Kennywood Park. The only rain at the Park came in the afternoon and it was just a light sprinkling.

Driving conditions were hazardous during the storm, with most motorists pulling off the highway.

Large Crowd at Picnic

Thousands Throng into Kennywood

It was a tired but happy group of Monessen residents who treked home last night after attending another successful Community Picnic at Kennywood Park.

The annual outing attracted a banner crowd, according to statements made by the Monessen Chamber of Commerce and park officials. Nearly 10,000 persons were clocked as entering the park by 6 p.m. About 1,000 others filed in before the last amusement ride halted operations for the day.

The picnic was hailed as a "tremendous success" by Fred C. Stockus, general chairman, and his committee.

The happy throng of picnickers began entering Kennywood about 10 a.m. and stayed long after the free entertainment acts at 9:30 p. m. Even a brief rain about 5 p.m. failed to dampen the holiday spirit of the gathering.

Lollipop Hunt

The day-long schedule of activities began with a lollipop hunt in Kiddieland at noon, followed by a Little League all-star baseball game won by the Americans, 17-0, and a scramble for $25 in pennies for youngsters.

At 2 p.m., the Monessen Recreation Department, with Frederic Feldman as master of ceremonies, presented an hour-long musical variety show from the band shell.

Then came the drawings for merchandise awards and bicycles.

Mrs. Louise Horvath won an automatic washer; Sistine Salotti, automatic dryer; Laura Malinchak, 17-inch television set; Michael Kerestes, portable television set; Adeline Konefko, transistor radio; Rose Marie Tegnalia, automatic toaster; Norman Barni, William Read and Kay Francis Popp, coffee makers, and Al Lupori, Sam Caputo, Kay Francis Popp, Bud Mackey and Adele Dzurinko, steam irons.

Other Winners

All the winners are from Monessen except Lupori, who lives in Dunlevy.

Bicycle winners were Helen Ostapowicz, Mrs. Alex Brozinski, Tom Hawkins, Pattie Lenio and Tom Felgar. Mrs. Brozinski is a North Charleroi resident and the others are from Monessen.

Following the drawings, the picnickers saw thrilling acts on the Lagoon stage. One act featured an acrobatic team and the sec-

Meany Expells Hoffa Associate

WASHINGTON (UP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany today expelled Paul Dorfman, a close associate of Teamsters vice president James R. Hoffa, as an officer and member of a small local union in Chicago.

Meany said Dorfman was guilty of violating AFL-CIO rules and ethical practices and of having "compromising personal ties" with an insurance agency doing business with the Teamsters.

Dorfman was ousted as a member and secretary - treasurer of the Waste Material Handlers Federal Labor Union, a small Chicago local affiliated directly with the AFL-CIO.

Meany said the findings against him were based on evidence presented by a House Labor subcommittee and on a closed hearing conducted for the AFL-CIO by Joseph Beirene, president of the Communications Workers.

Bridge Experts In Final Session

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Bridge experts Ambrose Casner and John H. Moran, New York, entered the final session of the American Contract Bridge League life masters pair championship today holding a slim lead.

In Tuesday's play the two leaders scored 442½ points to 430½ by H. Sanborn Brown, Grosse Point, Mich., and Martin J. Cohn, Oak Park, Mich.

Is Against Any Amendment to Voting Section

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower today expressed firm opposition to any change in the civil rights bill which would provide jury trials in contempt of court cases.

The Chief Executive at his news conference said he did not believe there should be any amendment to section four—the voting rights section—of the bill pending in the Senate. This would authorize the federal government to seek court injunctions to protect Negroes' voting rights. Violations of such injunctions would become contempt-of-court cases.

The Chief Executive also said he regarded as a very serious situation the block on appropriations bills caused by the civil rights fight in the Senate. He pointed out that thousands of government workers would have no assurance of continuing pay unless the log jam was broken immediately.

Other news highlights at his meeting today with 221 reporters:

—He stoutly defended his nomination of Maxwell Gluck as ambassador to Ceylon, saying he knew Gluck was not familiar with Ceylon but that a man of his record and intelligence certainly could learn. This comment arose from the fact that at a recent Senate hearing on his nomination Gluck did not know the name of the prime minister of the country to which he is being sent.

Speaks Sternly

Speaking quite sternly in the hot, humid conference room, the Chief Executive said he did not take kindly to erroneous suggestions, such as those made in the Gluck case, that he would appoint a man to a diplomatic post on the basis of his contributions to the Republican Party.

—He said he would like to see Congress review the laws covering conflict of interests in federal appointments with a view to encouraging younger, experienced executives from private business to come into the government.

—Amid uproarious laughter, he rejected a current report that he was worth one million dollars, saying that if the man printing these reports offered to buy him out for that amount, there would be a quick sale.

He said that when he took office, everything he owned outside of a small amount of cash in the bank was placed in an irrevocable trust and all he knew about it was the amount of taxes he owed at the end of each year.

Smoking Formula

—He threw down assertions by House Democrats that he did not plug sufficiently for his school construction bill that was killed in the House last week. Eisenhower said he had put forth his school program on a number of occasions and despite the House action, would have another school bill ready for Congress next year.

—He urged again speedy congressional action on the foreign aid authorization bill, saying it was absolutely essential to the continued national security.

—The President even came up, by request, with his formula for how to stop smoking successfully: get busy at something else, think

17 Arrested in Gang Stealing Auto Hubcaps

FREEPORT, Pa. (UP)—Thirteen juveniles and four adults were under arrest today, charged with stealing automobile hubcaps and selling them into the Allegheny River "just for the fun of it."

Justice of the Peace John Atkinson said the stolen hubcaps were valued "conservatively" at $1,000.

"If all the hubcaps thrown into the Allegheny River were recovered," he said, "there would be enough to supply Ford's production for one day."

The thefts occurred in Armstrong, Butler, Westmoreland and Allegheny counties.

The youths under arrest were residents of Harrison Twp., Natrona Heights, Buffalo Twp. and Freeport.

The adults, held for court under $1,000 bond each Tuesday, were James Swartz, 23, Charles Dempster, 19, Lavern Lucas, 19, and Harry Lucas, 44, all of Freeport.

Atkinson said the boys were not members of an organized gang but all knew each other.

Police Chief Raymond Rodgers said there were others involved and "we'll get them before it's over."

Company D to Leave Saturday, Not Sunday

Monessen's Company D will leave Saturday — not Sunday as previously reported — for a two week encampment of the 28th Infantry Division, Pennsylvania National Guard, at Indiantown Gap.

The Monessen unit will assemble at the Armory at 2 a.m. and will depart around 6 a.m. on two chartered buses.

A total of 50 enlisted men and five officers from Company D will take part in the annual encampment. Thirty other members of the Company will participate in a separate six-months active training program.

Company D, a heavy weapons outfit, is under the command of Capt. Harry B. Davis, of Donora.

Brickner 'Tired Waiting' For Chance at Channel

CALAIS, France (Special to the Daily Independent) — Gus Brickner, Charleroi's 44 year old grandfather who hopes to swim the English Channel in the next couple of weeks, admitted here today that he's "tired waiting."

"I've been here for almost three weeks now and I'm raring to go", said Brickner.

The exact date of the swim will be determined by a special commission of English and French channel observers. They will pick a date on which weather conditions appear favorable.

The nape tides are due in about a week or ten days. That means the sea will be full and the Channel should be calm.

Lately the weather in Calais has been bad. The sea was so rough last Friday that Brickner's trainer kept him out of the water.

"I had quite an experience the other day," said Brickner. "Because of strong winds, I could look across the Channel and see the white cliffs of Dover. It was a wonderful sight."

Winds up to 60 miles per hour whipped Calais the past few days. They brought with them rain and temperatures which ranged between 45 and 60 degrees.

"Despite the weather, I've missed only one day of training," reported Gus. "I feel great and I'm more than ever determined to swim the Channel."

Gus said a United Press reporter from Paris called him yesterday.

"It sure was swell to talk to somebody who could speak English," said Brickner.

"I'm not exactly homesick, but this waiting for a clear day is a little nerve-wracking," admitted Gus. "You know I'm not a very good waiter."

Rioting Convicts End Revolt in Montana Prison

DEER LODGE, Mont., (UP) — Rioting convicts who threatened to kill eight hostages if National Guardsmen stormed their cell block ended their revolt early today on assurances their grievances would get "fair consideration."

The 600 demonstrating prisoners, constituting the entire prison population, released all of their hostages and calmly returned to their cells.

Even as the riot stopped, about 200 crack Montana National Guardsmen with bayonets fixed to unloaded rifles and about 80 lawmen carrying pistols with live ammunition prepared to storm the captured prison.

Stop At Midnight

The end of the nine - hour riot came at 12:01 a. m. m.s.t. when the angry inmates, calmed by the assurances of Atty. Gen. Forrest Anderson, agreed to halt the disturbance.

Ringleaders of the riot released the last five of eight guards they had held as hostages. The men were haggard from their ordeal but otherwide unharmed.

Prisoners at one point had warned over loudspeakers set up in windows of a captured cellblock that if the National Guard were sent in "We'll throw out bodies (of guards)."

Anderson told the rioters after a truce talk that "as a member of the board I will see that the prison board does whatever is possible to right any of the wrongs which exist within or without the prison.

"You can be assured that the attorney general's office will make a separate investigation of the problems that exist here in the penitentiary."

Governor's Views Differ

At the state capitol in Helena, however, Republican Gov. J. Hugo Aronson viewed the situation somewhat different from the Democratic attorney general.

Aronson said he wa "extremely happy that all the hostages have been released and that the riot has apparently been halted."

But he stressed that "as governor I have made no concessions to any of the convicts."

The riot began shortly after 3 p. m. m.s.t. Tuesday as Aronson, Anderson and other state officials wound up an inspection tour of the prison ranch. They had not gone inside the prison.

Hundreds of convicts swarmed into the yard in front of the central cellblock and unfurled a white flag on which they had smeared in red paint the words: "We want rights."

Minutes later, eight guards had been grabbed as hostages and the main cellblock controlled by the inmates.

Inmates Present Demands

Lawmen, responding to a general police alert, converged on the prison from all directions—bringing tear gas guns, submachine guns and other weapons. Aronson later called out some of the key men in the National Guard.

The inmates then presented a long list of demands including dismissal of Benjamin Wright from the state Board of Pardons and Paroles. They also asked for improved health conditions, food, yard privileges and for an investigation of their library fund.

About 8:30 p.m., some five hours after the start of the riot, three convicts came out of the prison to meet with Anderson and Lt. Gov. Paul Cannon for a truce talk that led to halting of the riot.

Steel Gains in Employment Are Expected Soon

WASHINGTON (UP)—There will be a "modest" increase in steel employment in the Pittsburgh district but fewer jobs in other Western Pennsylvania areas in the next two months, the government said today.

A Department of Labor forecast based on latest employment surveys cautioned that the steel employment gains would be contingent principally on orders from the automobile industry.

Erie and Altoona, the forecast said, were in for more unemployment, dropping both into a lower category in the job picture. Erie slid to Group D, with six to nine per cent of the labor force unemployed, and Altoona fell to Group E, indicating nine to 12 per cent unemployment.

Pittsburgh remained in Group C with three to six per cent unemployment—about the national average. Also in this category were Philadelphia, Reading, Harrisburg, York and the Steubenville-Wheeling area.

The Allentown-Bethlehem area was the only one in Pennsylvania with a Group B rating, indicating one and one-half to three per cent unemployment.

Johnstown remained in the Group D category, the six to nine per cent group, and the Eastern Pennsylvania anthracite areas remained in Group E, the nine to 12 per cent group.

Employment in the coal mining industry would remain about the same for the next few months, the report said.

The Uniontown-Connellsville area was listed as having a "substantial labor surplus," but was not placed in a specific group.

Aluminum 'Unloading' Hit by Congressmen

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman A. Willis Robertson of the Congressional Committee on Defense Production has complained the government is committed to buy as surplus a part of the U.S. production of two aluminum companies while they are importing aluminum from Canada.

The Virginia Democrat Tuesday told Gordon Gray, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, that the "unloading" operation is being carried on at the expense of the taxpayers.

Gray and Franklin G. Floete, general services administrator, explained to Robertson's committee that the government is obligated to buy the aluminum under the terms of contracts made with aluminum makers to spur the production of the lightweight metal during the Korean War.

"The contracts didn't authorize them to unload cheaper Canadian aluminum on us and we object to their doing it," Robertson said.

Gray and Floete explained that the government made Korean War contracts with the Aluminum Company of America, Reynolds Metals Corp., and Kaiser which permit them to "put" unsold aluminum production from newly constructed plants with the government.

Beginning late last year, they said, the three companies started exercising that option and have tendered nearly 600 million pounds worth about 25 cents a pound to the General Services Administration.

Floete said the contracts made no mention of imports. He said he did not know whether, as Robertson indicated, Canadian aluminum has in some cases been delivered to the government.

He said Kaiser and Alcoa have, however, been importing aluminum from Canada under long term contracts while using their contract option.

Alcoa said in a statement that none of the metal it purchased from the Canadian producer has been shipped to the government stockpile.

combined Democratic and Republican vote placed me second in vote getting among the Democrats.

"I feel that I would do most for the Democratic ticket in the general election.

"In my opinion no courthouse pressure is being exerted on the committee in favor of any particular candidate since everyone seems to have a choice of his own."

Other candidates said they are still in the "thick of the race" and believe they will win.

Weiss 'Strong'

Some Monessen Democrats, particularly Mayor Hugo J. Parente, are "lining up" committeemen in Weiss' behalf. Weiss, it is theorized, will be "strong" with committeemen in the Monessen end of the county but "weak" in other parts.

Since Mahady, Best, McWherter, Loughran and Williams all live in the Greensburg district, it is expected that committee members living in this district will have a difficult time deciding on their choice.

The candidates still were contacting committeemen today and most have invited members to be "guests" at suites they have reserved for Saturday at the Greensburg hotel. One candidate, it was reported, plans to have a luncheon for all 126 members.

Jay Kromer, county chairman, said a "secret ballot" will be used to determine the winner. He believes all six will be nominated from the floor.

Saturday's meeting will not be a closed session, but members of the committee will be the first seated.

Banner Turnout

Kromer said the committee itself will decide what parlimentary procedure to adopt in the event no candidate receives a majority vote on the first ballot. It has been suggested that the candidate with the least number of votes be dropped in preparation for the second ballot. Kromer, however, said he doesn't believe in this procedure.

Like national political conventions, it is expected that all the maneuvering will be done in "smoke-filled" private rooms.

Indications point to a banner turnout of committee members, made up of the chairmen and vice-chairmen in the county's 63 political subdivisions. Kromer predicts a "100 per cent turnout" of the executive committee.

The Republicans have already picked Avra Pershing, Robert Rial and Willis Topper. The latter was selected as a third candidate by the GOP executive committee at a special meeting in late June.

Hoffa Faces More Charges

Hearings Open in New York

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee charged today that Teamsters Union "crown prince" James R. Hoffa, with the aid of plundering New York racketeers, sought a truck-and-ship stranglehold over the entire eastern seaboard and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said, "The economic factors involved are tremendous; such power placed in the hands of persons affiliated with racketeers is a danger to the welfare of the nation."

McClellan's charge came in a statement prepared for the opening of the committee's long-heralded public hearings today on Teamster activities in the New York area. He said Hoffa with the help of racketeers supported the winning candidate for control of the powerful Teamster Joint Council 16 in New York.

McClellan said the committee will show Hoffa "was going to tie up" with the International Longshoremen's Assn. which was kicked out of the old AFL because of its control by racketeers.

Spotlight on Hoffa

"Hoffa would have a stranglehold over the port of New York. The next step would be the entire eastern seaboard and the St. Lawrence Seaway," McClellan said.

The committee turned its spotlight on Hoffa in the wake of the Teamster vice president's acquittal last week of bribery-conspiracy charges. The government contended the Detroit union leader tried to plant a spy on the Senate committee staff to steal secret documents.

Hoffa announced upon his acquittal he will seek the presidency of the 1,500,000-member Teamsters Union—the nation's largest—on the retirement of Dave Beck. Hoffa was considered Beck's heir apparent prior to the federal indictment against him.

The morning session of today's new hearings was to be taken up with McClellan's opening statement and details supplied by committee staff members through testimony and charts. No outside witnesses were expected before an afternoon session. The committee would not disclose its witness list which bears more than 100 names. The hearings are expected to run several weeks.

Fayette County Clears Luzerne School Board

Fayette County Court of Common Pleas, sitting en banc, has ruled that the Luzerne Twp. School Board did not act illegally in abolishing the position of supervising principal George Alberts, of Republic.

Alberts had challenged the board's action, which was taken in July of 1956. He asked for reinstatement, retroactive to the date of his dismissal with full salary.

In his petition, Alberts argued that the school board has no power outside the provisions of the Pennsylvania School Code to dismiss him. He contended that the board did not receive the necessary approval of the County Superintendent of Schools and state education officials.

The school board said the dismissal was made for economic reasons.

Alberts indicated that he may appeal the decision to the state Supreme Court.

Woman Seeks Damages for Area Accident

A Monongahela woman has filed a suit in Washington County Court asking for damages in excess of $2,500 for injuries she allegedly received when struck by a piece of wood which reportedly fell fom the second story of the Monongahela Ford Co. building.

Frances Christopher, of Monongahela, stated in her suit that she was seriously and permanently injured in the accident which took place on Aug. 7, 1956. She said she was walking on the sidewalk at the time.

Named as defendant was William McCune, trading as Monongahela Ford Co., 210 Fourth St., Monongahela.

Rights Battle Holds Up Funds

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate leaders were expected to try again today for an armistice in the civil rights battle long enough to keep the purse strings from snapping shut on several government agencies at midnight.

Indications were a cease-fire of only an hour would be sought. This would be enough to pass a House - approved resolution to let the Defense and Agriculture departments, Atomic Energy Commission and foreign aid agency go on spending money at their present rate for another month.

Appropriations for these agencies have not cleared Congress. Without such a resolution their spending authority legally expires at midnight—although officials of the agencies indicated they would carry on about as usual in anticipation of early congressional action.

VFW Commander Pays Visit to Monessen Post

The newly-elected state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars stressed the importance of "teamwork with the Ladies Auxiliary" during a visit to Monessen last night.

William J. Tepsic, of Pittsburgh, told officers of the city's Allison-Lescanac Post 1190 that "teamwork" will be the watchword of his tenure in office.

"A hard-working Auxiliary is most important to the VFW," Tepsic said. "All Posts should encourage such Auxiliaries."

Tepsic said he plans to visit 700 VFW posts throughout the state during an extended tour which he hopes to conclude late in August.

A committee, headed by Commander John Hurrianko, greeted Tepsic during his Monessen visit.

The state commander complimented the Monessen Post on its current compaign to erect a World War II memorial at City Park.

"A community project of this type always indicates an active and wide-awake post," Tepsic said.

Welcome Rain Falls On Drought-stricken East; More Needed

By UNITED PRESS

A fresh wave of thunderstorms wetted down portions of the drought-stricken East Tuesday to sound an encouraging note in the three-month-long crisis which has cost farmers in 11 states losses in the tens of millions of dollars.

Heavy rains in New Hampshire all but broke the back of the drought in that area, while locally heavy thunderstorms in Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New York were cautiously described as part of a "continuing trend which may mean the end of the drought."

But for many farmers in the 11-state mid-atlantic region the damage had already been done. In places where the extended aridity had not caused irreparable harm, farmers sought means to salvage what was left. On Monday, the weather took an unexpected fateful turn by dousing parts of Long Island with downpours which caused some flooding and power failure, but failed to undo the six million dollars damage to the potato crop.

New Jersey's crop losses alone were figured at $12,500,000. State farm leaders scheduled a meeting Friday to consider seeking federal aid.

Temperatures throughout the nation were relatively unchanged.

The Great Lakes region enjoyed slight cooling, with nighttime temperatures in the 50s noted in the northern portion.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted another pattern of widely separated showers and thunderstorms for today along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts, parts of the upper Mississippi Valley, and from the Western Plains westward to the Rockies.

Accounting in Nearby County May Be Changed

Washington County's accounting system may be revamped as far as handling money from bond issues is concerned.

County Controller Peter Elish yesterday recommended to the office of County Treasurer Harvey Stuart that special accounts be set up to contain money remaining from two bond issues, one for improvement work at the county home and the other for airport work.

Both bond issues, in excess of $100,000, were floated last year, but expenditures for which they were meant were not started until this year.

In the past, this money has been handled through the county's general fund and disbursed the same as money received from other services. County Solicitor Frank J. Docktor said the system is perfectly legal.

However Francis E. Pettit, chairman of the county commissioners, said he saw no objection to the establishment of special accounts.

Pettit did point out, though, that the county's share for work on the airport will be supplemented by state and federal allocations. This money is not paid until after the work is complete.

Thus the county will have to dip into its general fund anyway to complete payment before receiving the allocations.

Financial Gossip—

Selling Is Real Cause For Market's Break

NEW YORK (UP) — Wall Street sleuths have determined the real cause for the market's break on Monday — the widest decline since Feb. 11 in both industrial and railroad stocks.

It simply was this: Professional selling.

The professionals dumped their holdings and once the market activity picked up on the downside the buyers evaporated. No one seemed to have a reason, although many were dreamed up.

Now that it has found out the cause of the break the street is relieved. It feels that the market has performed fairly well in the face of that selling.

The drop, it is noted, wiped out some of the excesses the market had accumulated recently in the so-called growth stocks. One of the market men calls them imagination stocks.

Buying in these issues had got out of hand. Even the professionals were involved and some of the conservative institutional men took a hand in the buying that sent the stocks soaring.

Now what of the future: Will another attempt be made to scale the 1956 high so narrowly missed on July 12 when the industrial average closed at 520.77, only 28-100ths under the record of 521.05 set on April 6, 1956?

The season is in favor of the market and it has had a fair-sized setback to induce some new buying, it is pointed out. August is one of the best months over the years for gains in both industrial and railroad sections.

There are a few adverse factors which the financial district doesn't like. The outstanding one is the profits pinch noted in many companies in the second quarter of the year. That had been anticipated. Hence, there was only moderate selling of the issues showing declines.

And, the street notes, there was no rush to buy the companies which were able to show gains, many to record highs.

The case of Chrysler is cited as an example of the market's neglect of big earners. Chrysler reported net profit of $10.28 a share for the first half, against a mere $2.14 last year.

The experts said this high income was never discounted. It had been expected but no one wanted to buy the stock on the expectations. And when the report came out the price of the stock fell by more than $2 a share.

Charleroi Eagles Club Burglary Nets $645.60

Charleroi police today still are investigating the burglary at the Charleroi Eagles Club early yesterday morning which netted $645.60 in cash and one bottle of whiskey.

The burglary, which took place after 3:15 a.m., was discovered at 8 a.m. by the club custodian, Gregory Fazio, of Belle Vernon.

Police said there was no forced entry and believe the looters hid in the women's rest room until the club was closed at 3:15 a.m. by the steward, Norman Sterner.

The burglars, police said, took four sets of keys from a register and then used them to open three cash boxes.

A large window leading to the rest room had been left open after the burglary, it was said.

Claim Tank Scandal

WASHINGTON (UP)—House investigators reported to Congress today that the Army has spent seven years and hundreds of millions of dollars to build heavy tanks that may not prove useful in nuclear war.

The investigating group, a House government operations subcommittee, requested a full-scale investigation by the Comptroller General of the production schedules and spending by the Army and the manufacturer, the Chrysler Corp.

In its report, the subcommittee said that the Chrysler Corp. was given "virtually a blank check" and told to build the tanks, T43s, "in a hurry."

"In point of fact, the delivery dates were not met," the subcommittee said, "and the tanks were not acceptable for service."

Testing showed that 114 modifications had to be made before the tanks were acceptable to the Army, the report said. The Marine Corps, it noted, still refuses to accept the 62-ton tank—the heaviest ever produced in quantity in the United States—for its ground forces.

The committee blamed the Army's "sharply divided" opinion about the use of heavy tanks in nuclear warfare for the failure to come up with a top notch weapon. It said that after spending many millions on a tank that had "serious deficiencies, the Army was finally persuaded to spend a few more millions to correct a large number of the deficiencies, but not enough to satisfy" the Tank Corps.

Revenue Source

THE CITIES of the United States fought a losing financial fight in 1956. The Census Bureau reveals the nation's municipalities ended the year with a $400 million deficit. In addition they went deeper into debt.

With President Eisenhower wanting state and local governments to take back responsibility for some of the services and capital outlays that Washington has been assuming, this financial difficulty at the local level does not promise a very solid base for such a shift of financial burden.

The trouble which cities are having with their finances is not hard to describe. It is simply an extension of the same troubles which plague individual and family budgets — rising costs. Keeping expenses down at least to the income level, or keeping income at least up to the outgo level is a delicate and trying chore for all branches of government.

It seems to us that at least some of the trouble can be found in the failure of government, particularly at the municipal level, to adopt a realistic program for the assessment of taxable real estate.

No business can survive under today's conditions unless its management continually examines income and expense to make certain that the flow of revenue is sufficient to meet the obligations. Similarly no government can operate in the black under today's high costs unless responsible officials keep revenue at a satisfactory level.

The old formula that used to bring in the revenue doesn't necessarily work today, particularly from real estate sources drastically effected by inflation. Keeping assessments in line with valuations—is a continuing job, but if it is not done municipalities lose an important source of revenue.

Communities where improvement programs and new building are underway should bear in mind that these developments are major contributors to new and better municipal services. Older properties should not be permitted "sleeper" status, however, by reason of failure to keep assessments current with increasing property values.

No New States

PUBLIC OPINION polls for years have listed a majority of citizens of the continental United States as favorably inclined toward the granting of statehood to Hawaii and Alaska, but Congress continues to look with less than absolute favor on such proposals. Washington observers regard the chances of favorable action being taken at this session of Congress as zero.

If a poll taker asks an average citizen his views on a subject of this sort, chances are he hasn't done much if any serious thinking about it. Most Americans probably have an amiable feeling that Hawaii and Alaska are entitled to statehood, but they don't really care much either way.

In the case of polyglot Hawaii, there is considerable opposition from southern Senators, who are not prepared to welcome as a state a territory where what they describe as "mixing of the races" goes further than anywhere else under the American flag. And they see no compelling reason for admission of Alaska either.

But there is northern opposition too. It is widely regarded as unwise to set a precedent by admitting territories not a part of the continental U. S. as states. State government in either case might prove too costly for local taxation, in which event Washington would be called upon to foot directly part of the bills for state governments, another mischievous precedent.

Congress, which has committees to delve deeply into the subject, may be expected to study the angles more intently than the citizen in the street. At any rate these are some of the reasons the results of the polls have not been translated into legislative action.

Kremlin Pattern

COMMUNISTS, with their yen for liquidations, have for some unfathomable reason set a strange quota in Czechoslovakia. The Prague bosses have decreed four out of every five rats — the four-legged breed — must die. Why do they spare the fifth rat?

Presumably only a comrade in high red councils would know the real reason, but a psychoanalyst might find an explanation. It could be there is a feeling of kinship among those who give orders in Czechoslovakia and the sneaking, destructive creatures they would preserve on a one-in-five ratio.

Russia supplies a parallel. There some rats are driven from the Kremlin while others are left to feast upon the land.

Civil Rights Bill Changes To Vote Law

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The Senate debate on the civil right bill now has reached the heart of the controversy.

The issue is no longer what to take out of the bill to keep it from going too far, but what to leave in the bill to enable it to go far enough.

The measure now is limited to one single, unchallenged goal: to enable the Federal government, by instituting civil suits, to help secure for all citizens the right to vote on equal terms.

I describe this as an unchallenged goal because when the Senate debate first began, the leader of the opposition, Sen. Richard Russell, D., Ga., contended that the bill was introduced by its advocates as a "right-to-vote" bill because its advocates knew that everyone agreed with the right to vote.

Now the proposed law has become in fact a right-to-vote law and the Southern Senators have performed a public service by compelling the Senate to remove what most of the Senators did not know was there. The force of the Southern Senators was the force of lucid and powerful argument, not the force of filibuster.

One more earnest and honest argument must be fought out before the bill is ready to be voted on as a whole. The argument will be over whether a registrar or an elections official, charged with refusing to comply with a court injunction, shall be tried by a judge or by a jury.

Enhances Respect

If the Southerners conduct the debate over this issue as faithfully, as constructively and as short-of-filibuster as they have the debates thus far, they will have enhanced respect for the Senate as a legislative body which can argue and act upon the most delicate legislation.

The opponents of the bill contend that it is unwise to try to protect one civil right (voting) by undercutting another civil right (trial by jury). They contend that no citizen should be punished without jury trial.

These contentions rest on premises which are only partly true. Contempt of court in a civil suit is almost invariably tried without jury and often without jury in criminal contempt.

It is important to understand concretely what is at stake in this jury-trial debate and to see what would happen in a concrete case.

If there was evidence that a local registrar refused to permit an eligible citizen to register in order that he could later vote, the Justice Department could bring a civil suit in a Federal District court. If the judge found that the defendant had violated the constitutional right of voting equality, he could issue an injunction requiring the registar to desist in this discrimination and if the defendant refused, he could be sentenced to fail.

Punishment Not Aim

But the purpose of such a sentence is not to punish; it is, rather, to require compliance with the order of the court. In effect, such a defendant is assigned a jail cell and he is given a key to let himself out anytime he wishes, the key being his compliance with the court's injunction. This, the right of the court to defend itself against contempt is the primary reasons why jury trials are rarely provided in civil cases.

Senators O'Mahoney and Kefauver are pressing an amendment which would provide for a jury trial in cases of criminal contempt. They contend that this amendment would not weaken the enforcement powers of the Federal government under the law. It is arguable.

But strongest Republican and Democratic advocates of the bill are now united on one proposition: that it would be better to have no bill at all than to have one which cannot accomplish its purpose, the purpose of protecting the right to vote with new Federal authority when state laws have proved inadequate.

They hold that anything less would make the bill an empty facade.

Natural Gas Bill Hits Snags

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The natural gas bill, which in these days of inflation will add about $800,000,000 annually to the consumers' gas bill, hit a couple of snags in the House rules committee last week.

The gas and oil lobbyists were all set to see the gas bill slide through Chairman Howard Smith's rules committee like greased lig ning when it ran full force into the adamant figures of Congressmen Ray Madden of Gary, Indiana and Jim Delaney of Long Island City, N. Y.

Mr. Pearson

Chairman Smith started the rules committee hearings in a big hurry. Smith is the congressman who used to represent George Washington's old home, Alexandria, just across the Potomac but had to move to more rural Virginia when this area got too progressive. He is head of the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition which just killed the school bill and his rules committee is the all-powerful group which decides whether a bill shall be sent to the full House of Representatives for a vote or not.

Congressman Oren Harris of Arkansas, author of the gas bill and longtime friend of the public utilities, appeared as a witness. He recently acquired a 25 percent interest in a TV station at El Dorado, Ark., for only $5,000, and his wife was the recipient of prized wartime nylons from Ham Moses of Arkansas Power, when nylons were impossible to get.

"What is the reason that this bill comes to us during the closing days of "Congress?" asked Madden whose Indiana district, just outside Chicago, consumes millions of dollars worth of gas.

Smith Wields Gavel

"You had all of January, February, March, April, May and June to bring this bill in, but now you bring it in a few days before adjournment," Madden continued. "Is this because you want to rush it through during the closing excitement of adjournment when nobody is paying too much attention? This is what happened last year. After all this delay why the big rush?"

Chairman Smith fussed and fumed: He held his gavel in hand as if ready to bring it down on the slightest provocation.

"How much time do you plan to take?" he finally fumed at Madden after the Indiana congressman had asked many more questions.

"Now, Mr. Chairman," replied Madden, "we sat here for two weeks while you went into the housing bill and for four weeks while you considered the civil rights bill. Now comes along a bill which will take close to one billion dollars out of the pockets of the American consumer and yet you want to rush it through in one hour."

The hearings by now had passed well beyond the noon hour, when the House goes into session. It was 1:30 p. m., and Congressman Clarence Brown, Republican from Ohio, had slipped out for lunch. Noting this, Madden told Smith:

"Now, Mr. Chairman, you're not going to starve us just because you want to rush approval of this gas bill. The rest of us want some lunch too. And after that we'll want to go over to the floor and take part in debating the school bill."

Committees are not supposed to sit while the House is in session, so reluctantly Smith bowed. He adjourned the gas hearings until next day.

Put Down That Gavel

Next day the same thing happened. Nervously, hurriedly, Chairman Smith held his gavel aloft, trying to rush the witness.

"M. Chairman," said Jim Delaney, "I wish you'd put that gavel down . . . I'm afraid it might fly off and hit somebody."

Congressman Torbett MacDonald of Malden, Mass., another Democrat, was the witness. He has waged a vigorous, uphill battle to show that his fellow progas congressmen were simply doing what U. S. Steel did for inflation by increasing the price of gas. He now told an amazing story of how the gas lobby had drafted the bill, how Chairman Kuykendall of the Power Commission, supposedly the protector of the public, had conspired with them.

Congressman Joseph O'Hara, a Republican from Minnesota, which needs natural gas, referred to a letter from Eisenhower supporting the bill. O'Hara is also for the bill.

"Wouldn't you say the President was a little bit for the bill and a little bit against it?" remarked Madden after the letter was read.

Everybody laughed.

"We passed this bill last year" continued Madden, "and then the President vetoed it. A lot of congressmen were put in a box. Isn't it going to be awfully embarrassing for us if we get in this box again? Don't you think we ought to look at this carefully?"

Finally Chairman Smith gave up. What discouraged him was the statement from alert young Charles Vanik of Cleveland, that several other congressmen wanted to testify. Later Vanik came up with a list of 24 congressmen.

Smith is now continuing the hearings. But he is still determined to push the gas bill through during the closing days of this session. In fact, strategy is all set to vote on a Friday when the big city congressmen from New York, Philadelphia and Brooklyn are home week-ending.

Washington Whirl

President Eisenhower gave up his yacht for economy reasons, yet the Pentagon brass continue to cruise down the Potomac on the naval yacht U.S.S. Sequoia . . . latest example: Pentagon Press Chief Murray Snyder threw a birthday party for his children aboard the Sequoia. They invited a dozen playmates along on the party-cruise . . . the Navy claims the cruise cost only $7.20 in fuel. However, this doesn't include other shipboard costs, including the salaries of a 24-man crew . . . the Pentagon brass also have fixed up three private helicopters for themselves, even more fancy than Ike's helicopters. The Pentagon whirlybirds have been equipped with sound-proofing, carpeting and plush, comfortable chairs . . . All key American cities will be defended by atomic-headed missiles by the end of the year . . . The Agriculture Department has asked Michigan State College to analyze what damage an atomic power plant might do to farming if it should accidentally blow up. Reason: Many proposed atomic power plants will be located in rural areas.

Anthology of Fortune Articles Now Available

By UNITED PRESS

The inner machinations of Madison Avenue, in the fictional and filmed exposes of power juggling, and the non-fiction exposes of advertising techniques, mind-manipulating methods and the like, are coming to fill an ever-increasing number of books. "The Amazing Advertising Business" by the Editors of Fortune (Simon & Schuster) attempts to clear up some of the confusion about just what or why advertising agencies are.

This is an anthology of articles that have appeared in Fortune magazine in the past five years, each dealing with some facet of the advertising business.

The pieces are informative, accurate, entertaining, and fascinatingly written. In their meandering from dog foods to the new Edsel, from sponsors to slogans to the optimal utilization of consumer anxiety, they shed a great deal of light on their subject. But it's an erratic light, probably inevitable in a collection of loosely related articles.

Right to Vote Is Key To Senate Controversy

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, (UP) — In its simplest term, the wind-up civil rights controversy now boiling in the Senate adds up to this:

Shall the federal government be given perfected machinery by which to compel southern states to permit Negroes to register and to vote?

The Eisenhower administration holds that the machinery available by constitutional guarantees and acts of Congress since reconstruction days is ineffective. The 15th Amendment, which became part of the Constitution in 1870, provides that Congress shall have the power to enforce by legislation the amendment's prohibition against the denial of the right to vote by the United States or by any state for reasons of race, color or previous condition of servitude.

Reasons For Ineffectiveness

The enforcement machinery created by Congress made the denial of the right to vote a criminal offense. The Eisenhower administration holds that this machinery has proved faulty for these reasons:

—Southern juries have refused or been reluctant to convict their local officials on such criminal charges.

—Such criminal proceedings, by their very nature, have had to take place substantially after the event — that is, criminal action could not be obtained in time to assure the vote to a qualified Negro.

The proposed change consists—in essence—of substituting civil for criminal action in the enforcement of the prohibition stated in the 15th amendment.

Preventive Action Also

Not only that. Under the voting right provision of the pending civil rights bill, the attorney general could begin civil proceedings "whenever...there are reasonable grounds to believe that any person is about to engage in any act or practice which would deprive another" of the right to vote.

Moreover: Such proceedings would be a civil action for preventive relief which would dispense with a jury and leave both verdict and the punishment to the federal judge of the appropriate United States District Court.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr insisted that the foregoing is a moderation of existing machinery because it would substitute civil for criminal action.

"It is a moderate bill," said Brownell.

"It is not," the southerners replied. They hold that the constitutional right of southern whites to a jury trial is being flushed down the drain to guarantee the constitution rights of southern Negroes to vote.

Behind The News—

Adenauer Given Big Boost in Campaign

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The Big Three Western Allies have given Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a big boost in his campaign for the West German parliamentary election.

That seems likely to be the most important result of the declaration on German unity which the United States, Britain, France and West Germany issued Monday.

The statement also gave Adenauer personally further assurance that West Germany's interests will not be sacrificed in the attempt to reach a disarmament agreement with Soviet Russia.

It would be unfair, perhaps, to call the declaration a campaign document. Nevertheless, it makes a pretty good one.

Calls For Election

The declaration called on Soviet Russia to agree to a free all-German election to unify the country.

It reaffirmed the right of a united Germany to continue the membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which West Germany now holds.

It further ruled out as impossible the Russian demand that West Germany negotiate a unification agreement with Communist East Germany.

One significant feature of the the declaration was that it was issued in West Berlin instead of in Bonn the West German capital. This emphasized the fact that Berlin is Germany's real capital.

B & K To Visit East

The decision to issue the unification declaration at this time undoubtedly was made partly because Russian Communist Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin are to visit East Germany in August.

Khrushchev and Bulganin are sure to hit the unification issue hard in their speeches during this visit. They may be expected to call again for direct negotiations between the two German governments and to repeat that West Germany's membership in NATO is a bar to a unification agreement.

The four - power declaration seems to pull the rug out from under this Soviet propaganda line.

Audrey Louise Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Gibbs, of Fellsburg, became the bride of William R. Snyder on Saturday, July 27. The bridegroom is a resident of Belle Vernon R. D. 2.

Their marriage was solemnized in the First Methodist Church of Donora with the church pastor, the Rev. Lew Johnston reading the lines of the rites at 1:30 in the afternoon.

The bride approached the altar with her father, who gave her in marriage, before an altar arranged with ferns and lighted candles. A waltz length gown was selected by the bride for her attire. It was fashioned with a lace bodice with a mandarin collar and short sleeves. Nylon net and lace fashioned the full skirt, which was worn over a full underskirt of ruffled net. The bridal veil of sheer illusion was caught to a crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white asters and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Matron of Honor

Mrs. Helen Kearn, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of aqua colored nylon and lace over taffeta. It was styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her bouquet was aqua tinted asters and pink rosebuds.

Bridesmaid was Mrs. Nancy Morovich, friend of the bride. Her gown was of pink satin and net with a matching jacket, and she carried a bouquet of aqua asters and pink rosebuds. The two attendants wore headpieces to match their gowns.

Casmer Kearns, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Alexander Stewart, a friend of the bridegroom, was the usher.

Nuptial Music

Before the double ring ceremoney Ronald Campbell sang "Because". After the bride and bridegroom recited their vows he sang "The Lord's Prayer". Miss Mary Watkins was at the organ.

Gray lace over pink taffeta was selected by the mother of the bride for her attire. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The mother of the bridegroom wore a blue ensemble with white accessories and pink rosebuds.

At 3.30 the wedding dinner was served at the Rostraver Grange Hall for the bridal party and immediate families. Later there was a reception at St. Joseph Hall in Donora. Approximately 100 guests attended from Monessen, Belle Vernon, Pittsburgh, Cochranton, Donora, Benteyvile, Philadelphia, phia, Bristol, Meadville and other area towns.

Pink, white and blue streamers were used to decorate the hall along with white wedding bells. A four tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the table.

When the couple left for a trip to the Pocono Mountains, the bride was wearing a light blue suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. She tossed her bridal bouquet and it was caught by her cousin, Virginia Martin.

After the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Snyder will live in Newburg, N. Y.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from Rostraver High School in 1954. The bride was employed at the Baldwin Piano Co., Pittsburgh, and her husband is serving in the U. S. Air Force. He is stationed at Stewart A. F. Base, Newburg.

Redstone, Brownies to Play Twice?

Brownsville and Redstone High Schools may revert back to a system tried in the Mon Valley Conference back in 1936 by playing each other twice on the gridiron this season. Both have an open date on September 20. They are regularly scheduled to play on September 27 so the 'Hawks suggested they play twice. It'll be up to Brownie officals to okay the home-and-home series. Back in '36 Charleroi won the Big Six crown and was awarded the WPIAL title but with the stipulation it would never again be awarded to a team which played opponents more than once in a season. The Mon Valley Conference had scheduled traditional foes twice with a couple of "extras" thrown in to fill out their grid cards that year.

Pierce Changes Tactics, May Have Best Season

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Pierce has turned his year around and it may pay off with the best season the White Sox southpaw ever has had.

Billy was a 20-game winnenr last season yet actually he staggered into the charmed circle. He won 16 of his first 20 games but then, from this point on, captured only four of his last nine games.

The answer is that he ran out of gas while this season, due to a change in tactics, he has a full tank.

"It's just that I feel stronger this year," says the slender left hander who, with a 15-7 mark, was the first 15-game winner in the majors this season.

The Big Reasonn

The reason is that he didn't pitch himself out in the spring.

The man who led the American League with a 1.97 earned run-average in 1955 was finding his legs and strengthening his arm. So when the flay went on the line, the 30-year-old Pierce was right there. Proof came on opening day as he beat Herb Score, the Cleveland fireballer in a 3-2 thriller.

Lack of stamina formerly was his big problem. Yet he has shown no hint of tiring in a skein of triumphs which include a pair of 10-inning vins, three shutouts, a two-hitter, a pair of three hitters and three four-hit efforts.

Most of his wins have been over the top clubs, too, with four over Cleveland, three over the Yankees and two each against Detroit and Boston.

Off Detroit Sandlots

Pierce, who came off the Detroit sandlots, was a long time arriving. After three years at Buffalo, he rode the Detroit bench in 1948 and "got the best break I ever had" by being traded to the White Sox in November of 1948.

After four mediocre years, he developed a slider which helped him to 18 victories in 1953, fell back to mediocrity because of a sore arm in 1954, but since has come on to become, according to many experts, the top lefthander in the league. Two years ago he won "only" 15 while dropping six games by a one-run margin. Last year he finally hit 20.

This time, coming on instead of fading in the stretch, there's no telling where he'll stop.

Pittsburgh Golf Play at Schenley

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh city golf championship, open to all amateurs, will take place Aug. 20 at the Schenley Park golf course, it was announced Tuesday.

Andy Szwedko will be on hand to defend his title in the match, according to Schenley pro Monty Oncretta.

Crabtree Hurls Three-hitter in Picnic Day Tilt

Brilliant three-hit hurling by Eric Crabtree gave the American Stars of the local Little League a 17-0 victory over the National Stars as a highlight of Monessen's Community Picnic Day at Kennywood Park yesterday.

Crabtree struck out 10 batters and walked only one. In addition he clubbed a double to aid his own cause.

The game was turned into a rout in the last inning when a 6-0 American league was swelled to 17-0 with 11 markers in the final stanza.

Bases Loaded Blows

Richard Steele's bases-loaded homer featured the final inning uprising with a "full-house" double by Myron Cieply also featuring the attack. Cieply and Steele also doubled while Cieply showed a triple as another contribution to the cause.

Jim Coccara checked in with three singles.

Hitters for the Nationals were Jim Frizell, Larry Davis and Claude Gary who garnered the only Nats' blows.

The players return to playoff action in the local leagues tonight.

Bad News for Steelers – Davis Out for Season

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers open second day of training today with the prospects of losing Art Davis, their No. 1 draft choice last year, for the 1957 National Football League campaign.

Davis, halfback from Missisippi State, wrote the Steelers that his physician advised him to stay out of action one year to strengthen an injured knee.

Little Action Last Year

The highly-touted speedster saw little action with Pittsburgh last year. He injured his shoulder in the College All Star game and suffered an injured knee during the regular campaign.

Eight players and six coaches opened the training camp at St. Bonaventure University Tuesday. The main group will report next Sunday.

On hand are centers Jum Taylor Mary Matuszak and George Tarasovic; quarterbacks Ted Marchibroda, Jack Scarbath and Gene Chichowski and ends Jack O'Brien and Perry Richards.

Coaching Staff

Walt Kiesling heads a coaching staff on hand that includes Chuck Cherundolo, Nick Skorich, Lowell Perry, Hay Gilmer, and Bill McPeak.

Tuesday, the Steelers announced the signing of halfback Ralph Paolone, New Castle, Pa. and guard Don Held, Slippery Rock, Pa.

Paolone a 6-foot-1 210-pounder who starred at Kentucky, played part of last season with the Philadelphia Eagles but was released. Held played at Slippery Rock State Teachers College last season.

The Steelers now have 49 players under contract.

Three Important Meetings Tonight

Three important sports group meetings are set for tonight, one in the City Softball League, one for the PONY League and one for the Myford entry of the local City Softball League.

Bailey Favored At Heidelberg

Before the season started, most of the drivers conceded that Dick Bailey would win the Pittsburgh Racing Association title — if it were a popularity contest.

But the PRA championship was based on winning races and few figured that the popular Grove City driver had a car that could be a consistent winner.

Bailey, however, has been as good as ever and the car owned by Steve Petrovic, thus far has been one of the biggest threats to front-running Herb Scott and Dick Linder.

Bailey sat out almost two weeks while the car was being rebuilt but came back strong and already has climbed into the top ten in the point standings.

Dick swept the three races he entered last week at Heidelberg — heat, semi-final, and feature — and now rates as a heavy favorite to win again this Thursday night.

The Petrovic car, incidentally, is the oddest-looking model in the sportsman division. The hood is almost twice as long as any other car on the track. Originally nicknamed the dachshund, the name had to be changed to greyhound when Bailey started running away from the rest of the field.

Both Scott and Linder figure on keeping Bailey from another triple win tonight — but that's what they figured last week.

Playoffs Resume in Little League Tonight

Playoff action continues in the local Little League tonight with the VFW and Ravens battling in the American Division after the CIO-Elks National Division tilt at 5 o'clock.

The Vets and Unionmen are one-up on the other two playoff entrants, having copped victories Monday. The Vets defeated the Ravens, 11-6, in a game reported here but the CIO-Elks game finished too late to make yesterday's paper. The CIO nine topped the Elks, 3-1, as Ralph Nuzzaci edged Edward Kilpela in a hurler's duel.

Nuzzaci gave up five hits but kept them scattered as he fanned 13 batters and walked only one. Kilpela allowed only three hits, striking out nine and walking two.

In addition Kilpela struck the only extra base blow, a double but it wasn't enough.

Action continues tonight with the second game of the three-game series.

Standard's Four-Hitter Paces CIO Softballers

Tom Standard fashioned himself a four-hitter, fanning 15 batters in the process as the Monessen CIO softballers topped Naomi, 6-2, in Tri-County Softball League action yesterday.

Hitting help came from Jack Manown and Tom Parks, Manown with a double, Parks with two two-baggers in a nine-hit attack on Naomi's Kostolansky.

Great defensive play figured by the Monessen entry featured the action especially the play of McCullough.

Next start for the locals is tomorrow night hosting Pricedale at Lynnwood.

Ozarks Host to W. Newton

Resuming their bid for a playoff berth the Monessen Ozarks of the Mon Valley League host West Newton tonight at Ninth Street Park.

The hapless West Newton nine, still seeking its first victory has, nevertheless, given some of the top contenders "real battles" of late.

Monessen jumped to fourth place Monday and hopes to stay there for the remaining five games thus assuring a berth in the playoffs.

The race for playoff slots has developed into a real battle with only Fayette City and possibly Charleroi assured of a berth. It's Perryopolis, New Eagle, Donora and the Ozarks for the third and fourth positions.

Both Donora and New Eagle have been playing terrifically improved ball of late while Perry has been slipping.

The Ozarks, paced by the big bats of Carl Crawley, Pappy Johnson and Bob Mastracci, excellent hurling by Bill Mitnick and Fuzzy Anderson and the improved hitting of Neil Hill have moved to three straight victories They hope after tonight it'll be four.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

How To Slice

The slice is a simple and valuable shot to hit — even for players who habitually hook. You never know when your only access to the green will be around a tree or other intervening obstacle.

If the left to right curve is what you need, first thing to do is alter the grip. Turn the left hand more to the left, so that the V formed by the thumb and forefinger points just to the left of the chin. Then turn the right hand more to the right, so the V formed by the thumb and forefinger of that hand also points to the left of the chin.

This in itself will generally insure a slice. But to make sure, bring the clubhead into the ball on an outside-in-line—that is, across the ball. What you're after is the cut-across action that you seek straight.

The cut-across action can be induced easily by starting the club back a little outside the line, instead of straight back.

President Joins in Praise of White Sox Ace Dick Donovan

By MILTON RICHMAN

President Eisenhower picked a fine night to watch a ball game and he wound up joining in the praise of the "hottest" pitcher in the majors at the moment—Dick Donovan of the Chicago White Sox.

The President, making his first mid-season appearance at a baseball game Tuesday night since last Aug. 31, commented appreciatively to aides on Donovan's brilliant three-hit pitching as the White Sox righthander beat the Senators, 7-1. Donovan, who didn't walk a batter in breezing to his 11th victory, has given up a total of eight hits in his last three games.

Not only did the President witness some fine pitching, but also some long ball clouting as Larry Doby and Minnie Minoso each walloped a pair of homers to keep the White Sox within three games of first place. Roy Sievers, who collected two of Washington's hits, also homered.

In other American League games, the Yankees helped Casey Stengel celebrate his birthday with a 10-4 victory over the Athletics; Boston blanked Detroit, 4-0, and Cleveland licked Baltimore, 5-0.

Braves Retain Lead

The Milwaukee Braves clung to their half game lead in the National League race with a 5-2 decision over the Pirates; the Cardinals topped the Giants, 7-3; Philadelphia defeated Cincinnati, 8-5, and the Cubs split a doubleheader with the Dodgers, Brooklyn winning the opener, 1-0, and Chicago the nightcap, 4-3.

Yogi Berra drove in four runs with four hits, including a homer, to pace a 16-hit attack that gave the Yankees their 14th victory in 15 meetings with Kansas City this season. Southpaw Whitey Ford wasn't nearly at his best, giving up 13 hits, including a homer by Billy Martin, but he hung in there for the distance to post his sixth triumph.

Bob Porterfield of the Red Sox turned back the Tigers on four hits while Jackie Jensen drove in three of Boston's four runs with a homer and a single. Ted Williams rapped out three hits to boost his batting average to .334. Frank Lary suffered his seventh straight loss and 14th of the year.

Right-hander John Gray, recalled from San Diego of the Pacific Coast League, pitched a three-hitter for Cleveland in extending Baltimore's string of scoreless innings to 23. The Indians got to Billy Loes for a run in the first inning on singles by Al Smith, Gene Woodling and Vic Wertz, then rallied for their last five runs in the ninth.

The Braves scored their first three runs with the aid of two Pirate errors and a passed ball, and Lew Burdette then coasted to his ninth victory with a five-hitter. Burdette yielded a first inning homer to Gene Freese and Pittsburgh couldn't score again until the eighth. Johnny Logan drove in two of Milwaukee's runs.

Ron Northey Back

Pinch hitter Joe Cunningham smashed a grand-slam home run off Ruben Gomez in the ninth to snap a 3-3 tie and give the Cards a victory that kept them within a half game of Milwaukee. Larry Jackson registered his 12th victory after relieving Lindy McDaniel in the ninth when the giants threatened.

Thirty-eight year-old Ron Northey, back in a Phillies' uniform for the first time in 10 years, delivered a pinch two-run homer in the eighth inning off Hersh Freeman and that was the blow that beat Cincinnati. Home runs by Frank Robinson, Smoky Burgess and Don Hoak helped the Redlegs to a 5-3 lead but Stan Lopata led off the eighth with a homer, Rip Repulski singled and Northey did the rest. The Phils added two runs in the ninth to insure the victory for reliever Bob Miller.

The dodgers won their opener from the Cubs when Carl Furillo's sacrifice fly scored Duke Snider with the only run of the game in the fourth inning. Sal Maglie was the winner with eighth-inning relief from Clem Labine. Loser Moe Drabowsky had 11 strikeouts.

Bob Speake's eighth-inning homer proved the margin of victory for Chicago in the second game. Lee Walls also homered for the Cubs while Charley Neal connected for the Dodgers. Dave Hillman was credited with the victory but he needed help from Dick Drott and Don Elston.

D'Amato's Defiance May Make Him Top Man in Boxing

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, (UP) — Manager Cus D'Amato's defiance of power and tradition in the fight game was attracting almost as much attention today as the first of his heavyweight champion, Floyd Patterson.

D'Amato is in the midst of four moves that may make him top man in the world of boxing. They are:

—Thursday he sends young Patterson back to camp at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., to sharpen for the first "open championship" in ring history—a defense of his world professional title against the world amateur champion, Pete Rademacher, at Seattle, Wash., Aug. 22.

—He and Patterson have waived the $175,000 guarantee for Monday night's knockout defense against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson in order to make certain that the D'Amato - appointed promoter, Emil Lence, suffers no loss from the Polo Grounds' disappointing gate and stays in business.

Boycotts Home TV

—He has withdrawn Patterson from home fight-television on any network until such time as one of the major TV corporations shall contract with an independent promoter, like Lence, for a weekly TV-fight series, in opposition to the International Boxing Club's TV-fight supremacy.

—Looking beyond the Rademacher fight D'Amato is planning another Patterson defense under Lence promotion at New York in October or November, which he will try to force into Madison Square Garden or, otherwise, stage at the big Kingsbridge Armory in the Bronx.

"I want to break the fight game wide open," said the stocky, gray-haired manager today. "I'll have no truck with monopolies or combines or cliques. I want to help independent promoters get back on their feet and make it possible for fighters, in all stages of development, to get what they're worth. And, luckily, I've got a world heavyweight champion who shares my ideals."

BALTIMORE (UP)—Ray Moore of Baltimore originally was slated to pitch against Cleveland tonight but he has a honey of an excuse why he can't.

Subcommittee Hears More on Pro Players

WASHINGTON (UP)—A House anti-trust subcommittee hears more on the players' side of the case today in its investigation of professional football.

Creighton Miller, lawyer for the National Football League Players Asso., was slated to lead off testimony as the subcommittee's hearings on professional team sports entered the next-to-last week.

Miller was to be followed by George Ratterman, former player for the New York Yankees, Montreal Alouettes and Cleveland Browns; Norm Van Brocklin, player representative for the Los Angeles Rams; and Kyle Rote, player representative for the New York giants.

The subcommittee, which already has finished hearings on organized baseball, hopes to wind up football Thursday when NFL commissioner Bert Bell and Chicago Bears owner George S. Halas will appear.

Subcommittee Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-NY) said the group will turn to professional basketball and hockey next week and he expects that will complete its investigation.

Washington Races Postponed This Week

There will be no car racing at Washington Raceway this week because a horse show has taken over the Arden Downs oval.

Pittsburgh 'Gives' Braves 5-2 Win

MILWAUKEE (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates met a double nemesis Tuesday night, Lew Burdette's pitching and their own loose fielding, as they were defeated by Milwaukee, 5-2.

Burdette, who has a lifetime record of 13-2 against the Pirates and hasn't lost to the Bucs since 1954, pitched a five-hit game, to gain his ninth victory against six defeats.

Pittsburgh Misplays

Milwaukee's first three runs resulted from Pittsburgh's misplays. Catcher Dick Rand's passed ball in the second inning allowed Del Crandall, who had singled, to take second. He scored on Johnny Logan's single. Crandall doubled in the fourth and scored on Frank Thomas' throwing error with two out.

Nippy Jones singled in the fifth, took third on Eddie Mathews' single and scored on shortstop Dick Groat's throwing error.

Leadoff Home Run

Burdette yielded a leadoff home run to Gene Freese in the first inning, but didn't run into trouble again until the eighth when singles by Bill Mazeroski and Dee Fondy and a sacrifice fly by Freese produced the other Pirate run.

The Braves added single insurance runs in the sixth and seventh innings.

Art Swanson started for Pittsburgh and gave up eight hits in seven innings for his second loss against two victories.

The Pirates meet Milwaukee again tonight with Bob Purkey (10-7) for the Pirates scheduled to pitch against Bob Buhl (12-6).

Gavilan-Ortega On TV Tonight

MIAMI Beach, (UP) Flashy Kid Gavilan, who still has visions of regaining the welterweight title despite his 31 years and a depressing losing streak, gets a big chance to boost his stock tonight against Gaspar Ortega at the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Because the Cuban "keed" is unpredictable and explosive, Ortega was only an 8-5 favorite for the 10-round nationally televised (ABC) bout, although he is second ranked among the welters. Fight time is 10 p.m. e.d.t.

A victory over Mexico's Ortega, who gave up bullfighting for the prize ring, would boost Gavilan's chances of getting a title shot eventually at welter champion Carmen Basilio, whom he once decisioned.

Sheppard Attorneys Seeking New Trial

CLEVELAND (UP)—Two attorneys for Dr. Samuel Sheppard hoped today that a Florida convict's signed "confession" would reopen the investigation into the murder of the osteopath's wife.

But their efforts appeared doomed in the face of claims by Cleveland authorities that the signed statement by Donald Joseph Wedler, like his verbal confession, was a fraud.

Attorneys William Corrigan and Fred Garmone obtained the signed statement Tuesday in De Land, Fla., and left immediately for Cleveland. They said they felt the confession "certainly" was enough to reopen the case which resulted in a life sentence for "Dr. Sam."

Authorities Cite Conflicts

But the two men who headed the investigation, Guyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber and former Chief of Cleveland Detectives James McArthur, said after examining Wedler's statement they were convinced he had nothing to do with the bludgeon murder of Marilyn Sheppard. They said Wedler's signed confession conflicted with verbal statements he made to them earlier and, also, with established facts in the case.

McArthur said he and Gerber were convinced, on the basis of their talks with Wedler, that he never had been in Cleveland.

Mrs. Sheppard was battered to death in the Sheppard's lakefront home July 4, 1954. Sheppard, in the house at the time, said his wife was slain by a bushy-haired intruder. Despite his protestations of innocence, the young osteopath was convicted by the jury and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Lawyers Map Strategy

In his statement, the bushy-haired Wedler said he entered the house with robbery as his motive, then battered a woman with a piece of pipe, hit a man asleep on a downstairs couch and threw the pipe in nearby Lake Erie.

But Gerber and McArthur said the confession was as "phony" as 24 others given since the murder.

Despite the skepticim of authorities, Corrigan and Garmone said they would call a conference of all lawyers connected with Sheppard's defense and map strategy which they hope will free the osteopath.

Wedler said he was willing to go to Ohio to submit to a lie detector test, provided it was not administered by police auhorities or Gerber.

The color scheme for the decorations and luncheon appointment was orchid and white, the same color scheme the future bride plans to use in her wedding appointments.

Many gifts were placed on a large table over which a decorated umbrella was suspended.

Games were played and those winning the prizes were Rogene Cipriani, Mary Kay Biagini, Mary Ann Huber and Eleanor Bucko, who won the guest prize.

Luncheon was served at a large table centered with an arrangement of summer flowers. A novel favor marked the cover for each guest.

Tax Delinquents Face Prosecution

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Revenue Department will file 178 property liens against sales tax delinquents this week in 37 counties.

Deputy Revenue Secretary Charles S. Seligman said the action was part of a continuing enforcement and collection program against taxpayers who failed to pay either the old 1 per cent or the later 3 per cent tax.

Seligman said the liens were against a "small number" of business establishments who ignored their obligation in collecting the sales tax, with some deficiencies dating back to 1953 when the levy was 1 per cent. The 3 per cent tax went into effect during March, 1956.

Graham Turns Other Cheeck

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham gave a demonstration Tuesday night on how to carry out the Biblical admonition to turn the other cheek.

The object of his demonstration was Louis Silver, 49, a former liquor salesman accused of posing as an usher at Graham's Yankee Stadium rally July 20 and taking up a $491 collection for himself.

The evangelist offered Silver a temporary job at Madison Square Garden, as an usher.

"I have confidence in Mr. Silver and want to give him a chance to show his good faith," Graham told the United Press. "He needs the money and we want to give him a chance to work out the sum we are able to give him."

Admiral Halsey 'Quite Improved'

NEW YORK (UP)—Fleet Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey was reported "quite improved" and "doing very well" today at Doctors Hospital where he was admitted late Monday for what first had been described as a cerebral hemorrhage.

A spokesman for the 74-year-old naval hero said he might have suffered a "cerebral spasm," rather than a cerebral hemorrhage, as had been reported initially by the hospital. Halsey, the spokesman said, was "up and around," taking regular meals and "feeling very well."

The spokesman said the retired officer should be out of the hospital "in a few days."

More Trouble On Pittsburgh Police Force

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A police trial board sat today in the case of suspended Patrolman Robert C. Cairgle, accused of leaving his beat to visit a number of bars.

Main interest in the case, however, centered on two inspectors and a sergeant who allegedly were informed of Cairgle's activities but did not investigate.

They were Inspectors James (Chippy) De Sout and Albert Jones and Sergeant Edward Bailey.

In another development in a recent series of headaches for the Police Bureau, a rookie patrolman charged with driving an ambulance, while intoxicated resigned Tuesday. The patrolman, James McLaughlin was arrested and pronounced intoxicated while on duty Monday night. Neither McLaughlin nor his partner, officer Leo Reilly —who was pronounced sober— could explain how their police ambulance received a dented fender.

McLaughlin's resignation excused him from a trial board hearing. Reilly, however, must face a hearing in the investigation of the dented fender.

In a third development, Patrolman Michael B. Griffin, accused by a contractor of using his uniform to harass the contractor's truck drivers, was given a clean bill of health following an inquiry.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Province and son have moved from Levittstown to R. D., Belle Vernon, where they had lived previously.

AEC Warning Protest Group On Trespassing

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)— The Atomic Energy Commission warned today that any attempt to enter the Nevada proving grounds by members of the National Committee for Non-Violent Action against Nuclear Weapons would be repulsed by armed guards.

The warning followed the group's announcement in New York that some of its members would deliberately violate the law by walking into the restricted nuclear testing area next week. The committee said it planned the action to back up its protests against nuclear testing.

Meanwhile, the AEC announced the second consecutive 24-hour postponement of its 11th blast of the test series because of adverse wind conditions. The test, dubbed "Shasta," has been rescheduled for 4:45 a.m. p.d.t. Thursday. Scientists said predicted winds would have spread fallout over Lincoln Mine, a community of several hundred persons 40 miles east of the test area.

Gas Rate Increase Hearings to Resume In Early September

HARRISBURG (UP)—Hearings will resume in early September in another round of testimony on a proposed $6,479,000 annual natural gas rate increase sought by Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. Pittsburgh.

The company completed testimony Tuesday before the Public Utility Commission to back up its contention the proposed rate boosts are justified. The protestants, including Pittsburgh, Washington, New Castle and Bradford, will present their cases against the increase when the hearings resume.

Dr. John K. Langum, a Chicago economic consultant, pinpointed Manufacturers' need for the increase as stemming from "current inflationary trends" which force the company to make additions and replacements to its plant and equipment at higher costs.

Langum said his studies showed general price levels rose 24.9 per cent from 1947 to 1956 while the price level of business expenditures on plant and equipment rose 41 per cent. He added the price level of December, 1956, was probably lower than the price level which will prevail in the years immediately ahead

Robert Enge, assistant Pittsburgh city solicitor, led the protestants during the hearing drawing out technical data from Manufacturers' vice president C. A. Massa concerning consumers and pipelines in the system. Massa and company rate analyst Philip D'Agostino followed Dr. Langum on the stand.

The company also pointed out the Federal Power Commission gave natural gas wholesalers a rate increase July 14, boosting the price to Manufacturers. A company spokesman said Manufacturers' industrial and wholesale consumers were already paying higher rates based on the power commission raise and added that private consumers also would have to share a portion of the increased cost of gas.

Outlines Monthly Boosts

The spokesman said the proposed rate boost would add about 74 cents monthly to the bills of typical customers using gas for cooking, refrigeration and water heating. Heating customers would pay about $1.90 more each month, he said.

The hearing was the latest in a series since the company filed the proposal in two parts last March. The utility requested $1,523,000 annual rate increase to meet the higher cost of natural gas and an additional $4,946,000 to cover increased costs for labor, material and supplies and "restore the company earnings to a proper level." The two increase proposals were suspended by the PUC last May until Nov. 12-13, pending hearings.

Earlier this month, Manufacturers requested the $1,523,000 rate increase go into effect immediately to meet the higher cost of gas with hearings to continue on the second rate increase application. The move was rejected by the PUC.

The commission, under law, can order a second suspension if no decision is reached by Nov. 12-13. A second suspension would carry the proposed boost into next February.

The utility serves 247,000 consumers in 25 counties across the state, in Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Bedford, Butler, Chester, Clarion, Clearfield, Elk, Fayette, Franklin, Fulton, Greene, Indiana, Jefferson, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Somerset, Venango, Warren, Washington, Westmoreland and York counties.

Cuban Rebels Are Killed by Troops

SANTIAGO, Cuba. (UP)—Loyal forces have killed three rebels in eastern Cuba in the past 24 hours, official sources said today.

Police and troops shot down two men identified as rebels in the streets of Santiago Tuesday. A third man was killed by troops in the nearby Mistress Mountains.

At the same time, it was announced that an unspecified number of Cuban marines landed Tuesday in Manzanillo to reinforce police and troops combing the Mistress Mountains, principal hideout of the rebels.

Air Conditioning to Change Everybody's Life in the Future

By ROBERT SHORTAL

NEW YORK (UP)—Someday man may wear air conditioned clothes, walk on air conditioned sidewalks and watch sports events in air conditioned stadiums.

These are just a few of the things that the crystal ball gazers in the air conditioning industry say are in the offing.

By the year 2,000, industry spokesmen add man may control his climate by the flick of a switch or the turn of a dial.

J. W. Alsdorf, president of Mitchell Manufacturing Co. of Chicago, says "within the next 45 years, if research and engineering continue at their present pace, we may well have taken a step toward changing everybody's way of living.

Dreams Are Possible

"Although all we can do is look into a crystal ball today, none of these dreams is beyond the realm of possibility."

Air conditioning has invaded homes, churches, offices, factories, theaters and stores to the tune of $3,500,000,000 a year.

Americans now travel in air conditioned trains, buses, airplanes and automobiles.

Walter A. Grant, vice president of research and development for Carrier Corp., notes that some experts believe one-third of the automobiles sold in 1961 will be air conditioned.

Experiments now are underway with air conditioning units for subway cars. The job of cooling 200 people jammed together like sardines is no mean task.

"Turning to the great outdoors" Grant points out, "air conditioning will achieve spectacular results both in the city and on the farm".

Air Conditioned Cities

He explains that inflated plastic canopies may be used to suspend conditioned air over baseball and football stadiums, a forerunner of air conditioned streets and even air conditioned cities.

"Air conditioned pigs and chickens will produce more pork and more eggs per pound of feed," he adds.

Grant also visualizes the day when man will carry a little device in his hip pocket, delivering personal cooling at the flick of a switch.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Pat's a flirt. She's made up her mind not to make up her mind."

Vocational Education Aid

HARRISBURG (UP)—Pennsylvania will receive $2,972,976 in federal aid for vocational education for the fiscal year which began July 1.

The Public Instruction Department said the federal money, to be matched by state and local funds, would be used to support public school vocational education programs in agricultue, homemaking, industrial trades and commerce.

The state also will receive $206,000 in federal aid for practical nurse training, an increase of $101,000 over last year.

The vocational education program annually trains 100,000 students in 1,073 public schools at a cost of about eight million dollars. State and federal funds are apportioned to schools on the basis of pupils enrolled in vocational courses, with districts receiving about $35 per student per year. Additional funds are given for vocational extension classes, vocational retraining of the technically unemployed, teacher education in vocational instruction, and general administration.

The nursing program trains practical nurses to assist registered nurses at courses offered in Pittsburgh, Ambridge, Johnstown and Philadelphia. The department said the additional funds will allow extension of the course to several other cities.

Queen Elizabeth Horse Race Winner

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth was the winningest race horse owner in Britain today.

The victory by her Almeria in Tuesday's Belmont Stakes brought the Queen's prize money for the season to 41,034 pounds ($114,895), about $100 more than she took in 1954 when she also was the leading owner.

State Travel News Mailed to Thousands

In the first seven months of this year, individual postcards and letters coming into the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce requesting travel information on Pennsylvania totaled 151,078 — a figure higher than that for any single previous year for which the Department has records, according to State Commerce Secretary. William R. Davlin.

"Roughly 80 per cent of the postcards and letters seeking travel information indicate that they result from the reading of the Pennsylvania travel advertisements the Department has been running nationally in magazines and in major metropolitan newspapers of surrounding states," Davlin added.

The Department's travel request records go back to postwar 1946; that year the Department received 34,355 inquiries; up to this year, the highest year for inquires was 1950 when the 12-month figure stood at 138,030, compared to 1957's 7-month total of 151,078, the Department reported.

The Department was without advertising funds for the 1956 Spring-Summer travel season; only 64,107 inquiries were received during the year; the 1957 travel season is the first full season of Pennsylvania travel advertising since 1955, Secretary Davlin explained.

In anwering the requests received this year, the Department of Commerce is mailing the new color booklet entitled "More Vacation Fun for Everyone in Pennsylvania." This 28-page brochure, cut in the shape of the Keystone State, devotes several pages to each of the six geographic regions of the Commonwealth.

Design and layout of the new brochure was supervised by the Department's Travel Industry Advisory Council. In addition to Gilbert Love who edited the text, promotion and printing experts from Atlantic Refining, Gimbels, the Pennsylvania Railroad, Warwick Hotel in Philadelphia and Allegheny Airlines cooperated in designing the 4-color booklet.

Other printed material being mailed when specifically requested deals with travel facilities and attractions within the Commonwealth. It covers such subjects as: county fairs, summer theaters, industrial plant tours, fishing, hunting, state parks fall foliage.

New Castle Boys Tour Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Two New Castle, Pa., boys, objects of a wide search, turned up in Pittsburgh Tuesday night.

The boys, both 1, were identified as Robert Shuler Jr., of 406 Kenneth Ave., and William Spencer, of 400 Kenneth Ave.

Police and firemen had scoured awrence County in a search for the boys who left home at 6:00 a.m. Tuesday to go on a short hike.

Pittsburgh police said the boys didn't have enough money to return home. They were turned over to juvenile authorities who arranged for a reunion with their parents.

Europe Can Be Defended; Most Military Leaders in Agreement

(This is another in a series by the United Press military affairs writer. The following dispatch analyzes Europe's defensive capabilities.)

By CHARLES CORDDRY

PARIS (UP) — Europe can be defended.

That claim admittedly is controversial and much debated in military circles in this age of nuclear weapons.

It represents the best judgment, however, of many military leaders consulted during a 6,600-mile tour of North Atlantic Treaty Organization defenses in Europe and the Mediterranean area.

Top officers at Allied headquarters here point to evidence that Russia well respects NATO's ability and intention to defend itself.

Despite political and economic stresses and troubles ranging from Greek-Turkish disputes over Cyprus to the French army deployment into Africa NATO has been 100 per cent successful militarily. It has prevented war and it has protected its territory for eight years.

If the deterrent should fail and Russia should be foolish enough to start a war, NATO strategy does not envision any prolonged land campaigns fought over European terrain so far as can be told from non-secret information.

Can Prevent Enslavement

Whatever the destruction, strategists believe they can prevent the continent from being overrun and enslaved.

The aim would be for ground and air elements comprising NATO's forward shield to hold at or near the Iron Curtain until retaliatory air forces could deal crushing blows to the Soviet Union. That would not take long, according to available estimates.

Vice Adm. Charles R. Brown, U.S. 6th Fleet commander in the Mediterranean, estimated to visiting reporters that the U.S. Strategic Air Command could rain down the bulk of its punishment in something like 16 hours. The fleet, too, would get in some blows in that time, he indicated.

Other officers said if the shield force held for 72 hours, Euope could, by aerial attach on enemy forces, be spared from invasion.

Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, was questioned recently in a U.S. Senate hearing on the ability to hold.

Defenses Could Hold

"I am not talking now of carrying on a land campaign," the Air Force general said. "... If they (the Russians) start the war I think we can hold until the effect of our retaliatoy force is felt ... It might take several days or weeks for most of the attacking forces to feel the full effects of our retaliation."

Norstad said Russia could not knock out all NATO's retaliatory air fields in a simultaneous attack.

The assumption is that if Russia started a war it would have to go after the Strategic Air Command first, or simultaneous with an attack on Europe. Otherwise, it would have no chance whatsoever for survival.

But if it started a smaller-scale, would-be local war in Western Europe, the aim approved by the North Atlantic Council is to use atomic weapons to the extent necessary to win.

According to Allied headquarters NATO's greatest need today to insure against being overrun is the full complement of promised German forces. The Germans have just turned over three divisions and two more are expected this year. Their first air wing will be ready this fall, with four more next year.

Have Nike Missiles

These other reinforcements are scheduled or already being received:

—Nike anti-aircraft guided missiles will reinforce the slowly gathering air defenses of NATO this year, being assigned to both U.S. and Allied forces.

—NATO air bases still are increasing. In a year, 67 more will be added to the present 150.

—In 1959, a radar warning net will be completed from northern Norway to eastern Turkey, able to look "several hundred" miles into Communist territory and further guarantee against surprise attack.

—New supersonic interceptors will reach the U.S. Air Force in the coming year and the 6th Fleet is eceiving increasing missile armament.

DOG 'GETTING THE BIRD' — A young robin, with a tough complex, has moved in on Coco, the beagle — and Coco, long known as a mighty hunter — appears to be taking orders in a very house-dog manner. The bird's home, located in the eaves of a house in Chicago, fell in the path of progress when workmen tore down the structure to make room for a new highway. Susie Churchill picked up the robin and took it to her home.

Says U.S. Steel Spent More Than it Earned

NEW YORK (UP)—U.S. Steel Corp., whose pricing policies come under congressional scrutiny next week, has spent more for expansion and modernization than it has earned in the postwar period, according to its top officer.

Chairman Roger Blough said the corporation's postwar capital expenditures of three billion dollars topped its earnings by around a billion dollars.

He said that the recent $6 a ton increase which triggered the Senate investigation of steel prices "certainly was conservative." Other steel industry leaders have said the price increase failed to cover the costs stemming from the automatic wage increase granted July 1.

Blough told a press conference Tuesday that the company's earnings were after taxes but before payment of dividends to stockholders. He said two-thirds of the company's capital needs have come from depreciation, and the rest from retained earnings and borrowings.

He said he will "welcome" a chance to appear before the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee next week, when it launches its investigation of steel prices. "We think we have a good case to present," Blough said.

He spoke to reporters after reporting that "Big Steel" rang up record sales and earnings in the first half of 1957. However, he warned that second half operations may not match those of the first six months.

The world's biggest steel company earned $231,421,308 or $4.07 a share in the first six months, against $208,550,441 or $3.66 a share a year ago. Sales rose to $2,336,663 from $2,269,290,135 a year ago.

Hare Ware Costly

TAUNTON, England (UP) — Stanley Murrin's rabbits weren't born with silver spoons in their mouths but they enjoyed the nearest thing to it. A museum curator said Tuesday, that the old spoon Murrin used to ladle out food to his rabbits was one of two 17th Century silver relics worth about $700.

Begin Discussion Of Refugee Problem

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP) Rep. Francis Walter (D-Pa.) and Joseph Swing, head of the U. S. Immigration Service, began discussion today of the problem of Hungarian refugees still in Yugoslav camps. Most of the 20,000 Hungarians who fled here during the revolt are waiting resettlement.

He was unhurt.

CLYDESIDE, England (UP) — Britain's Princess Alexandra smashed a bottle of champagne against the bow of the new Royal Navy frigate Jaguar—and the ship stayed put. While embarrassed officials scurried about, the princess rose to the occasion and gave the ship a mighty shove. It slid down the slipway.

Beer Contract Talks Halted; Strike Threatened

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Contract negotiations between union employes of the Duquesne and Pittsburgh breweries and management representatives were halted Tuesday with no further talks scheduled.

A meeting was called by the United Brewery Workers Union (AFL-CIO) for next Sunday. The union represents 1500 workers for the two firms.

Talks broke down over an issue involving truck drivers. The companies have been tying to eliminate a "freeze" whereby they must immediately hire a new driver in event of discharge, death or retirement.

Duquesne Brewery makes Duquesne and Silver Top beers. Pittsburgh Brewery makes Iron City and Tech beers.

Killed Trying to Jump Onto Truck

PITTSBURGH (UP)—John Milan, 14 of nearby Castle Shannon, was killed Tuesday when he tried to jump onto a moving truck and fell under the rea wheels.

He was dead on arival at St. Clair Hospital of a crushed chest.

The truck driver was identified as James Ehland, 22, Pittsburgh.

Walter J. Kohler

William Proxmire

Kohler, Proxmire to Seek McCarthy Seat

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—Former Gov. Walter J. Kohler, an "Eisenhower Republican," and Democrat William Proxmire, whom he beat in two gubernatorial elections, will fight it out in the Aug. 27 general election to succeed the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

It will be a familiar scene when the two winners of Tuesday's Wisconsin primary election battle for the Senate seat. Kohler was governor for three terms (1950-1956), and Proxmire thrice tried unsuccessfully for that office. Kohler won both times they opposed each other.

Only about 500,000 of the state's 2,300 000- eligible voters cast ballots despite generally fair weather.

Proxmire predicted: "For the first time in 20 years Wisconsin will have a Democratic senator." Kohler said: "It is important now that we all unite and look to a Republican victory."

Six Conservatives Beaten

Kohler beat out six conservative opponents for the Republican nomination. He rallied late in the vote - counting, mainly on the strength of support in populous Milwaukee County, to beat former Rep. Glenn Davis by nearly 9,000 votes. Rep. Alvin O'Konski, an early leader, fell back to third.

Proxmire won the Democratic nomination, by about a 3-2 margin, over Rep. Clement Zablocki of Milwaukee.

One hitch developed in the primary election, however, which could lead to a court battle Gaige Roberts, state election supervisor, said "Republican Party" and "Democratic Party" were printed on the outside of Milwaukee County ballots rather than on the inside.

O'Konski said he was seriously considering a suit to "void the ballots." He said the printing mistake was a "typical Chicago machine election "tactic, done deliberately to keep Democrats from voting according to their conscience."

Republican returns from 3,354 of the state's 3,361 precincts gave Kohler 109,424, Davis 100,777, O'Konski, 66,758, Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles 23,932, former state Supreme Court Justice Henry Hughes 7,562, State Sen. Gerald Lorge 7,366, and former Rep. John Schafrer 1,964.

Democratic returns gave Proxmire 87,498 and Zablocki 56,042.

Kohler and Proxmire will be the major party candidates on the ballot along with Socialist Labor candidate Mrs. Georgia Cozzini and one or two independents.

Pills Can Affect Your Driving

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) —Pills as well as alcohol can make unsafe automobile drivers out of otherwise reliable ones, an authority on drugs said in urging doctors to warn their patients — when necessary— "against driving while under medication."

Dr. W. J. R. Camp, professor of pharmacology, University of Illinois School of Medicine, put barbiturates at the head of the list of drugs which can decrease the ability to drive safely. Barbiturates are commonly prescribed as sleeping pills.

This drug has "an action closely paralleling that of alcohol — pure depression (of the central nevous system,) and often leaving a hangover," he said.

"Many patients are on a daily diet of barbiturates with resulting laziness in thought forgetfulness, and slowing of reflexes. There may even be signs and symptoms of inebriation, depending on dosage, but without the aroma of alcohol and of course with a negative breath-alcohol test."

Breed Obituaries

Should a person who has had barbiturates, take a drink "the effect of the two substances is at least additive" he continued—and it may be that one will greatly multiply the effect of the other.

For his money, he said, "barbiturates breed too many obituaries."

Anti - histimines, commonly prescribed for allergic conditions, also depress and add to "a fatigued and perhaps disconsolate state resulting from the alergy." Pharmacological science has recognized this by adding mild stimulants to anti-histimines.

But "use of stimulating drugs is also of concern, since over-dosages of amphetamine and similar substances are apt to affect a highly reactive state in which mental processes and reflexes may be grossly disturbed," he continued in the technical journal, Post-Graduate Medicine.

"One might also question the wisdom of a person driving while he is taking so-called tranquilizing agents, which are not without side actions and are known to produce a 'don't give a damn' attitude."

His point was that "while alcohol is a serious problem" in "this useless slaughter" resulting from automobile accidents, "we should not forget other drugs." In some ways, he said, alcohol is not the most dangerous drug potentially in the driver because "the effects of over indulgence are usually obvious," which is not so of the other drugs.

"Many persons, of their own volition, or on advice of a physician, are taking drugs which have a definite effect on the central nervous system" he said. "We need not stress that users of marihuana, morphone, heroin or cocaine have no business driving a car, but insufficient thought has been given to the effect of more commonly used drugs."

He didn't think that all the efforts to educate the public on the dangers of mixing drinking and driving, were getting very far, since the "use of alcoholic drinks is so common." The public seems indifferent, and "drinkers continue to drive, and drivers to drink, and with an indifference that endangers themselves and others."

Hiroshima Bombing Claims 15th Victim

HIROSHIMA, Japan (UP)—The World War II atomic bombing of Hiroshima has claimed its 15th victim of the year.

Umeko Tanikawa, 54, who at the time of the bombing lived less than a mile from the central explosion point, died Tuesday in Hiroshima Hospital. Authorities said she apparently had escaped unaffected, but developed symptoms of atomic disease last January. She gradually grew worse until her death.

Ike Takes in Ball Game; Team Takes Beating

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday night took the occasion of the first lady being away to step out to a ball game with some of his chums.

The President sipped soda pop, kept his own scorecard and rooted happily for the home team.

Only one thing marred the cool evening out for him. The Chicago White Sox beat the Nats, 7-1.

The President, who saw his wife off for Denver Monday, played nine holes of golf Tuesday afternoon. Then after a White House conference, he rounded up a party of nearly 20 friends and staff members for the evening jaunt to Griffith Stadium.

Gen. Alfred M Gruenther, Red Cross president, sat on one side of Eisenhower in the presidential box. Calvin Griffith, president of the Washington ball club, sat at Eisenhower's other side.

Scotland to Build Atomic Station

LONDON (UP) — Scotland has received permission to build its first atomic power station

Secretary of State for Scotland told the House of Commons Tuesday that a $103,600,000 nuclear generating plant will be built in southwestern Scotland. It will produce one fourth of the total output of electriciy for the south of Scotland.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Michael Koval, who died five years ago today, July 31, 1952.
Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of thee,
Oh! How we miss you, father, dear,
No one but God can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But, no, it isn't true,
For five long years have passed, dear father,
And our hearts still ache for you.
Sadly missed by Wife, Children and Grandchildren

Marital Mixup Causes Concern In El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—A marital triangle became a weird quadrangle today when a woman with two husbands said her first spouse will marry her sister to provide a mother for her five children.

British - born Ms. Eileen Stuart, jailed here on bigamy charges said her legal husband, Maj. Charles G. Stuart Jr., 33, agreed to marry her younger sister after the couple gets a divorce.

She said he agreed to the plan in order to provide a mother for their five children.

She refused to identify her sister, who is believed to have slipped into El Paso from Toronto, Canada, Tuesday.

The couple apparently reached the agreement during a discussion Saturday night when Stuart charged Sgt. 1-c Allen Louis Wille, Ms. Stuart's extra husband, pulled a gun and threatened to kill him.

Stuart, on duty at Biggs Air Force Base, dodged reporters. Wille is in custody in the Fort Bliss stockade and Mrs. Stuart is in county jail in lieu of $2,500 bond.

Fort Bliss officials said Wille faces courts-martial on charges of bigamy, adultery and aggravated assault.

Stuart charges his wife, who says she is two months pregnant by Wille, urged the sergeant to shoot him.

Poison Threat To City's Water Supply Received

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UP) —Armed guards today were stationed around four reservoirs following a mysterious extortionist's threat that he would poison this city's water supply unless he received $25,000.

Mayor Floyd O. Bohnette said Tuesday that his office received a special delivery letter Monday warning that a highly toxic amount of botulinum would be put into the city's reservoirs if the money wasn't delivered according to instructions.

The letter crudely printed in hand block letters, was turned over to the FBI and police. Officers said the money was left at a phone booth according to instructions but the extortionists failed to fall into the police trap.

Police said the letter might have been written by a crank but they were taking no chances. The guards were ordered to keep a sharp lookout at the reservoirs and the city Health Department doubled the chlorine content in the drinking water.

'Profit' $20,000

MIAMI (UP)—Anthony Clausi, 35, has discovered a great way to do business but a mighty poor one for staying out of trouble. Police charged the used car dealer with buying the same 1957 Cadillac four times with bogus checks and reselling it for cash for a net profit of $20,000.

$50,000 Damage In Three-truck Crash on Pike

MT. PLEASANT, Pa. (UP)—A three-truck collision on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Donegal Tuesday resulted in injury to two Ohio men and caused an estimated $50,000 damage.

William Portemont, 30, Columbus, Ohio, was burned severely when his tractor-trailer caught fire following the collision. He was listed in serious condition in rick Memorial Hospital here.

Herman Cochran, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, driver of an auto carrier, was treated for minor burns and released.

Clarence Burkholder, Irwin, Pa., operator of a pickup truck, was not injured.

State police said the accident occurred when the tractor - trailer and the pickup tried to pass the stalled auto carrier at the same time.

Portemont swerved his large rig and struck the rear of the carrier, then hit the pickup and rammed it into the medial barier.

The tractor and pickup were destroyed by fire, and the auto carrier and four new cars it was carrying were damaged.

Prisoner Names His Own Penalty

PHILADLPHIA (UP)- Edward J. Osenburg, 45, named his own penalty before Federal Judge Francis L. Van Dusen Tuesday for stealing from the mails.

The judge noted that he previously sentenced Osenburg to a 10-month term for a similar offense and pondered aloud: "What should I do with you?"

"Send me to jail," Osenburg blurted out to Judge Van Dusen's surprise.

"I think you're right," replied the judge. "Five years imprisonment plus five years probation."

President's Wife To Dedicate Park

DENVER, Colo. (UP) — The President's wife rested today on the eve of the dedication ceremonies of "Mamie Doud Eisenhower Park" in Denver.

The First Lady entertained a small group of Republican women at a late afternoon tea Tuesday in her Brown Palace hotel suite. It was expected to be her only social event of a week long visit to Denver.

Takes Steps for Another Appeal

JOLIET, Ill. (UP)—Thrill killer Nathan Leopold took steps today to make another appeal for freedom before the state Parole Board meets in October.

Leopold, slayer of young Bobby Franks in the "crime of the century," saw his hopes for freedom by Christmas evaporate Tuesday on a technicality.

Gov. William G. Stratton, in a carefuly worded statement, rejected Leopold's appeal because executive clemency would remove him from parole supervision.

But Stratton's statement appeared to invite Leopold to petition a third time for a rehearing on his parole application.

Because Leopold is ailing with diabetes and a heart condition, he does not believe he will live to the year 1968 when he will be eligible for parole.

Border States Plan Ban on Brucellosis

By UNITED PRESS

New York and New Jersey will not accept milk from brucellosis-infected cows after next year and Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning advises farmers selling in those states to take action immediately to clear up any such infection in their cows.

The New Jersey law will prohibit selling of milk from brucellosis-infected cows after April 1, 1958. The New York law goes into effect Jan. 1, 1959.

Dr. H. A. Milo, the director of the department's bureau of animal husbandry, said the new laws in the neighboing states would greatly affect dairymen in Bradford and Lebanon counties. These counties are the only ones in the state which have areas in which no testing for brucellosis has been started.

Fifty-five of the 67 counties in the state have been certified brucellosis-free. Eight have completed testing but are awaiting certification. In order to be certified, the infection must not exceed 5 per cent of the herds in the county.

The department warned dairymen not yet in testing programs that it might soon be too late to hold the markets they have.

(Fairs)

This week is a big week for fairs in Pennsylvania. Three started Monday and another begins today.

Opening Monday and running through Saturday were the Clearfield County Fair at Clearfield, the Goshen County Fair at West Chester, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Farm Fair at Towanda.

Today, the Tioga Valley Fair will open at Tioga. It will also run through Saturday.

Famous Hearst Castle Is Tourist Attraction

By ALINE MOSBY

SAN SIMEON, Calif. (UP) —The only genuine castle in the United States—a California tourist attraction rivaling the Golden Gate Bridge and Hollywood—will be open to the public next year.

The fabulous castle built by the late publisher William Randolph Hearst on his 275,000-acre range-by-the-sea has been turned over to the state by his heirs, and in six months will be available to sightseers off the highway half - way between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Hearst began the castle in 1920, and it became the most costly (estimated at 35 million dollars) and unusual residence in this hemisphere.

The castle is made of medieval palaces, chateaux and convents that Hearst bought in Europe. Sometimes the castle - collector would buy an entire building just to get a ceiling he liked, an urge all collectors can appreciate.

Structures Dismantled

The structures were taken apart in Europe, crated and shipped by boat to the little port of San Simeon (there was no highway then) and hauled by truck seven miles to the castle site on a hilltop overlooking the ocean.

I took an advance tour of the place, and the first sight that stunned me was zebra grazing by the road winding through the huge cattle ranch. Hearst formerly had the country's largest private game reserve, with lions, elephants monkeys and panthers, but only zebras, antelope and deer are left.

The "ranchhouse" consists of three large (four or five bedroom) guest houses, a main castle, terraced gardens filled with statuary and antique cannon, stables, a zoo and a gymnasium. The castle is so mighty the telephone company lists it as a separate town—Hacienda, Calif.

The outdoor swimming pool, the size of nine ordinary pools, is rimmed with statuary, marbled terraces and the facades of columned temples from ancient Greece. There's also an Olympic-sized indoor pool flanked by statues and made of priceless Italian tiles.

For guests there are 60 bedroom suits (many with two or three bedrooms each) and 60 marble baths. Except for the fire extinguishers and telephones, you could be living in a European castle of four centuries ago.

The front of the main building was taken from a church and the towers from a 15th Century Spanish castle. The front door once graced a Spanish convent and the floor of the entry hall is Roman pavement, 6th Century B.C.

The 75-foot main living room is a staggering sight. The walls are lined with choir stalls from an Italian cathedral. The room features a 24-foot-high mantle from a French chateau and an Italian carved wood ceiling with 60 chandeliers sparkling with 300 lights.

One tapestry in the living room, originally owned by Marie Antoinette, was bought by Hearst's mother, Phoebe, for 3 million dollars in the 1890's.

There are four warehouses on the range and one in New York holding enough ceilings, doors, furniture and art objects to furnish another castle.

Art Carney to Make Stage Debut in Fall

NEW YORK (UP) — Television, which "made" Art Carney, will have to mark time for a while where he is concerned.

The versatile performer, erstwhile sidekick of Jackie Gleason for so many TV seasons, comes to Broadway this fall for his New York stage debut as a full-blown star in one of the more ambitious projects of the new season.

Carney will co-star with Ireland's famous Siobhan McKenna in "The Rope Dancers" by Morton Wishengrad which the Playwrights' Company and Gilbert Miller will produce. Rehearsals start Sept. 27, and the play will be seen in Boston before the New York premiere.

There will be none of the slapstick comedy at which Carney is so expert in this play. It is a serious drama set on New York's lower East Side at the beginning of this century. Carney fans who saw his latest TV effort have no worry that he'll be able to handle this type of work because he turned in a fine job in the title role of "The Fabulous Irishman," a biographical teleplay about ex-Lord Mayor Briscoe of Dublin.

Polio Shots Urgent If Tonsils Are Out

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

While I firmly believe children should be given the protection the Salk anti-polio vaccine offers, it is especially important that youngsters who have had their tonsils removed be inoculated with all three doses.

From studies conducted during and after our polio outbreak in Chicago last year, we have concluded that a polio victim is more apt to contract the serious bulbar type if his tonsils have been removed.

Statistically, a person with polio is three and one-half times as likely to develop bulbar involvement if his tonsils are absent. And bulbar polio, as you probably know, carries the highest death rate of all forms of infantile paralysis.

It doesn't make much difference if your youngster's tonsils were removed four years ago or four months ago. He seems to be just as susceptible to bulbar polio, should he get poliomyelitis.

In 739 cases of polio in which we could determine whether there had ever been tonsillectomies, we found 68 persons who had had their tonsils removed; the other 671 had not.

We found that 24, or 35.3 per cent of those with no tonsils developed bulbar polio. On the other hand, 74 or but 11 per cent of those who still had their tonsils got the bulbar type; 5 came down with non-paralytic polio.

With regard to tonsillectomies, however, I'd like to emphasize that the importance of having tonsils removed when clinically indicated and the benefits such an operation will bring far outweigh the possible danger of bulbar involvement.

However doctors believe it is advisable that anyone who has had his tonsils removed or plans to have them removed in the near future should get all three Salk inoculations, properly spaced.

This, in my opinion, would minimize the danger to a great degree.

Where Will Queen Elizabeth Sleep?

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Queen Elizabeth may break recent Washington custom by sleeping in the White House on her visit here this fall.

The State Department and the White House so far decline to say where the young Queen and her consort, Prince Philip, will stay. All other recent state visitors have stayed at the presidential guest house across the street.

One State Department spokesman said crisply: "The Queen will stay wherever the head of state always stays. . . ."

When asked to finish the sentence, he added, "well, anything could happen."

Other royal visitors of recent years, like King Saud, have stayed at the Blair - Lee guest house. Would they now be offended if the Queen should be given a White House bedroom? That question has White House aides in a quandry.

Nevertheless, there are growing indications from some official quarters that the rose suite in the White House may win out over the green brocade canopied bed in Blair - Lee House for Her Majesty's stay here in October.

When she was here briefly in 1951, as princess, the White House was being rebuilt and she stayed with the Trumans at the Blair-Lee House.

One source points to two factors which may have the most influence in the final decision.

First, President and Mrs. Eisenhower entertained her mother, Queen Mother Elizabeth, under here in 1954. The Queen Mother the White House roof on her visit spent two nights at the White House and the rest at the British Embassy.

Secondly President and Mrs. Eisenhower have twice been guests at Balmoral, the royal family's country estate. They spent a weekend there in 1946 as guests of King George VI, and a day there in 1951 as guests of Elizabeth, then princess, and Philip. They have warm memories of those visits.

These factors are said to be more important to the Eisenhowers than the fact that President and Mrs. Roosevelt in 1939 had King George and his queen stay in the White House when they visited here. That was before the Blair - Lee guest house came into use as the usual residence for state visitors.

Another question is how much sightseeing will be on the royal schedule this time.

The Queen's visit will be too brief, and her schedule too full, to permit a visit to the Eisenhower farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

In 1954, Mrs. Eisenhower, who often tires easily, was an indefatigable sight - seeing guide for the Queen Mother. Besides the usual stops at such places as the National Art Gallery, the Library of Congress and Arlington Cemetery, the First Lady also went to special pains to satisfy the Queen's wish to see an American drug store.

After the White House state dinner for the Queen Mother that year, the President noted her delight with a singing group called "The Carolers" and invited them to the private quarters upstairs after the musicale. There was more singing there, for Her Majesty, who liked particularly "Dry Bones."
